

Education in the Americas MALAS Specialization Potential Courses for Fall 2021

This document is intended to serve as a guide for core and elective courses for students considering the Education in the Americas MALAS specialization. The list of courses provided is not intended to be exhaustive, but includes classes taught by faculty who are affiliated with the specialization. We recognize that faculty continually build new courses, shift research interests, take leave, or at times refocus their teaching efforts towards undergraduate courses only. Additionally, a student's research interests in education might extend beyond our affiliated faculty's expertise. Given so, students are encouraged to seek out graduate courses in departments/programs that might strongly align with your research interests and consult with Drs. Mary Risner and/or Chris Busey for approval.

Remember to refer to the Education in the Americas specialization website as a useful source in addition to the Center's Fall 2021 course guide.

Center Based Courses

- LAS 6938-Latina/os in Contemporary U.S. Society (Vargas)
- LAS 6938-Latin American Politics (Anderson)
- LAS 6938-Power and Environment (Paulson)
- LAS 6938-Masculinities, Gender, and Environment (Paulson)
- LAS 6938-Politics of the Caribbean (Suarez)
- LAS 6938-Indigenous Ontologies (Novo)
- LAS 6291-Communication and Leadership (Williams)

Elective Courses

- EDF 6636/LAS 6938-Theorizing Race and Racism in Educational Research (Busey)
- EDG 6931-Introduction to TESOL (de Jong)
- EDG 6931-Multilingual Global Perspectives (de Jong)
- FLE 6167-Cross Cultural Communication for Teachers (Liu)
- SPN 6735-Understanding the Spanish Heritage Speaker (Cabo)
- LAS 6938/SPW 6286: Plant Studies and Petroculture with Mexican Texts: Pathway to Publication
- FYC 6800-Scientific Reasoning and Research Design