THE LATIN AMERICAN ANTHROPOCENE (AND BEYOND) (LAS 6938)
Fall 2023 | Class No. 28995

INSTRUCTOR: Dr. Luis Felipe Lomelí

CONTACT INFO: email: luisgomezlomeli@ufl.edu

OFFICE HOURS: You can email me to arrange a more convenient time to meet, either via zoom or in person.

OBJECTIVES: This course is designed for graduate students from any discipline—humanities, natural sciences, social sciences—and at all stages of their graduate program. It is an interdisciplinary introduction to the different approaches to the concept of “Anthropocene” that have been fueling the environmental debate in the last decades. Throughout the course, we will read articles by natural and social scientists, as well as philosophers, alongside a selection of cultural products, such as films and short stories from Latin America (and beyond) to illustrate and question each one of the academic proposals/theories. At the conclusion of this course you will be able to:

1. Identify the main definitions of “Anthropocene” that have been proposed—with that name or with another one—by scholars from diverse disciplines in the last decades.
2. Ponder the social and political aspects of each one of the definitions of “Anthropocene.”
3. Describe the key pros and cons of each definition of “Anthropocene” from an interdisciplinary perspective.
4. Recognize the underlying ideologies surrounding the environmentalist debate on climate change.
5. Analyze cultural products from an “anthropocene” perspective.
6. Describe the environmental features of a fictional text and the narrative structures of a scientific paper.
7. Articulate the major ethical considerations of acknowledging the Anthropocene as a geological era.
8. Explain the scope and limits of science and fiction to communicate multidimensional concepts.
9. Apply the concepts and narratives of the Anthropocene to develop a critical observation of your own surroundings.
10. Acquire a deeper understanding of the environmental dimensions and social implications that underlie your own research work.

Students are encouraged to employ critical thinking and to rely on data and verifiable sources to interrogate all assigned readings and subject matter in this course as a way of determining whether they agree with their classmates and/or their instructor. No lesson is intended to espouse, promote, advance, inculcate, or compel a particular feeling, perception, viewpoint or belief.
COURSE FORMAT: This will be a discussion-based seminar. Each regular session will have a student—or a pair of students, depending on the class size—performing as class facilitator. During the first third of our sessions, the class facilitator will expose the main ideas of the assigned paper or papers, and this presentation will lead us to the discussion around that particular approach to the Anthropocene in the Latin American context. During the second third, the class facilitator—the same student or another one—will analyze the assigned film, short story, or other cultural product through the lenses of the assigned paper. During the final third of each of our regular sessions, we will scrutinize the assigned materials from other vantage points and reflect on their problematic aspects.

Every week, students will take at least one picture of anything found interesting in the surrounding areas. These photographs will be used in our non-regular sessions as visual aids to students’ presentations. Each presentation will share a narrative that will expose an approach to the concept of the Anthropocene. In week 7, we will have the first round of presentations as a workshop to share and discuss the preliminary ideas worked by each student. In Week 14 and Week 15 we will have the final presentations. These final presentations will be an upgraded version of the midterm ones. It is expected that each student will present a deeper and more profound reflection on the diverse definitions of the Anthropocene, applied to their own surroundings and illustrated by their own photographs.

The final essay will consist in a 5,000-word paper. The essay must be in conversation with the course topics and materials but should ultimately advance each student’s individual research and work toward successful completion of the MALAS degree, TCD certificate, other graduate degree being sought, or as the basis for a peer-reviewed publication. Specific guidelines and rubrics for class presentations and final essay will be on the course Canvas page.

COURSE MATERIALS: There are no required textbooks for this course. All readings—with the exception of The Holocene, by Neil Roberts—will be provided on the course Canvas page. Films will not be screened during class time.

ASSIGNMENTS & EVALUATION

- Participation: 10%
- Class Facilitations: 30%
- Midterm short presentation: 10%
- Final presentation: 20%
- Final Essay: 30%

Guidelines and rubrics for each one of the above-mentioned items will be provided on the course Canvas page.

Evaluation: Final grades will be assigned on the following scale (based on percentage points out of the total): A: >93% A-: 92.90% B+: 89-87% B: 86-83% B-: 82-80% C+: 79-77% C: 76-73% C-: 72-70% D+: 69-67% D: 66-63% D-: 62-60% E: 59% and below.

Attendance and Make-Up Work: Because this is a discussion-based seminar, students’ attendance and active participation is required for the course’s functioning and the mutual enrichment of all its participants. Requirements for class attendance and coursework are consistent with university policies found at: https://gradcatalog.ufl.edu/graduate/regulations/#text. Assignments will be subject to the following reduction of points if turned in late: within 24 hours of the posted date and time, the assignment will be docked 25% of the total possible points; 24-48 hours late will result in 50% loss of total possible points. Assignments will not be accepted beyond 48 hours past the due date. Let me know as soon as possible if you need to miss an assignment due date for any reason (e.g., conference, illness, family emergency).

UF ACADEMIC POLICIES & SUPPORT SERVICES

- Academic Honesty: As a student at the University of Florida, you have committed yourself to uphold the Honor Code, which includes the following pledge: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.” You are expected to exhibit behavior consistent with this commitment to the UF academic community, and on all work submitted for credit at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” It is assumed that you will complete all work independently in each course unless the instructor provides explicit permission for you to collaborate on course tasks (e.g., assignments, papers, quizzes, exams). Furthermore, as part of your obligation to uphold the Honor Code, you should report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. It is your individual responsibility to know and comply with all university policies and procedures regarding academic integrity and the Student Honor Code. Violations of the Honor Code at the University of Florida will not be tolerated. Violations will be reported to the Dean of Students Office for consideration of disciplinary action. For more information regarding the Student Honor Code, please see: https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/.

- Services for Students Requiring Accommodations: The Disability Resource Center (0001 Reid Hall, 352-392-8565, www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/) coordinates the needed accommodations of students with disabilities. This includes registering disabilities, recommending academic accommodations within the classroom, accessing special adaptive computer equipment, providing interpretation services and mediating faculty-student disability related issues. I want you to do well in this class and will gladly work with you to implement any necessary accommodations.

- Course Evaluation: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via www.ufl.bluera.com/ufl/.

- Student Privacy: There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see the Notification to Students of FERPA Rights.

- Campus Helping Resources: Students experiencing crises or personal problems that interfere with their general well-being are encouraged to utilize the university’s counseling resources. The Counseling & Wellness Center provides confidential counseling services at no cost for currently enrolled students. Resources are available on campus for students having personal problems or lacking clear career or academic goals, which interfere with their academic performance.

- Food Insecurity. The Pantry is a resource on the University of Florida campus committed to eradicate food insecurity (https://pantry.fieldandfork.ufl.edu/). Food insecurity is not having a reliable access to nutritious foods for yourself on a regular basis. If you, or anyone you know is experiencing food insecurity, the Pantry is a resource to visit.

- Software Use: All faculty, staff, and students of the university are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against university policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate.

- Sexual harassment of any kind will not be tolerated in this course: UF provides an educational and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff that is free from sex discrimination and sexual harassment. For more about UF policies regarding harassment: http://www.dso.ufl.edu/studentguide/studentconductcode.php#s4041

- Gender Equity Statement. Gender-based discrimination and violence are antithetical to the university’s mission and values, violate university policies, and may also violate federal and state law. The Office for Accessibility and Gender Equity is here for anyone who has been affected by gender-based discrimination and violence. If you or someone you know has experienced gender-based discrimination or violence, please contact the Office for Accessibility and Gender Equity to get support and information about your rights and reporting options. You can learn more about university protections, supportive resources, response processes, and prevention efforts by visiting www.titleix.ufl.edu The University Title IX Coordinator is located in the Office for Accessibility and Gender Equity and is responsible for providing support to anyone affected by gender-based discrimination or violence. If you would like to report gender-based discrimination or violence affecting our community, please contact Russell Froman, Assistant Vice President for Accessibility and Gender Equity and ADA and Title IX Coordinator at (352) 273-1094, or by e-mail at rfroman@ufl.edu. You can also submit a report using the online portal: https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?UnivofFlorida&layout_id=20

- Video or Audio Recording of Class Lectures. Students may record video or audio of class lectures for their own personal educational use, in connection with a complaint to the University, or as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. A “class lecture” is an educational presentation delivered by faculty (including any individual hired or appointed by the University to conduct classroom, teaching activities) or guest lecturer, as part of a University of Florida course, intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject. Students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the faculty or guest. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered to be published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, or leaflet. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.
