60th Annual Center for Latin American Studies Conference

Save the Date: March 24–26, 2011

The objective of the 2011 conference is to envision how the UF Center for Latin American Studies can move forward in the 21st century while building on its rich legacy. We invite alumni, current and former faculty, students, and others who have been affiliated with the Center to join us for this 80th anniversary celebration of achievements and moment of reflection. The conference will include symposia on Latin American Business and Latin American History; panels recognizing influential former faculty, Center Directors, and alumni; sessions focusing on substantive topics such as Latin American communities in the Southeast; and a Latin American career workshop for students. A series of ongoing activities is planned, such as art and artifact exhibits, documentary screenings, and student poster showings. A Gala Reception, sponsored by the Latin American Studies Alumni Board, will be an opportunity for conference attendees to reconnect with old friends and network with new ones.
